The seminar reviews the state of the art in the study of territories across a number of disciplines in the natural and social sciences. Contributions range from philosophy (Carlo Brentari), through ethology (Shelley M Alexander), planning (Anna Marson), sociology (Andrea Mubi Brighenti), to political and legal geography (Andreas Oberprantacher). A focus on how territory-making activities are studied in these domains allows for the development of a comparative discussion and further theoretical elaboration.

The Seminar is addressed to students enrolled in SSR MA Course at DSRS and students of the PhD Course Cultures of Europe at DLF. Students of the Department of Sociology and Social Research can earn 2 CFU credits by attending the seminar and preparing a short paper to be agreed upon with the organizers.

until October 16, 2021 (the seminar is for 25 participants)
